Weymouth, Massachusetts, U.S.A.: Casablanca Pr, 2003. Soft cover. Condition: New. 395 pages. From Publishers Weekly: Godek, a self-designated romance coach who leads relationship seminars, has been publishing books on this subject for well over a decade (including 1,000 Ways to Be Romantic). This offering is directed to couples who are committed to each other and want to achieve an "A+ Relationship" based on a greater degree of intimacy. Godek first provides a report card where both people rate themselves and each other on a variety of characteristics, including patience, honesty, a sense of humor and gift-giving ability. According to the author, scoring this exercise (which should be done on a periodic basis) will provide insight into areas of disagreement or that need improvement. He also lists an overlong catalog of favorite things that partners should know about each other, such as their preference of colors, animals, snack foods, songs and athletes. Replete with tips and activities, some of the author's ideas for pursuing a newly romantic relationship are harmless and fun to try, but most are quite facile and certainly not for any couple having serious problems. In order to improve communication with a lover, Godek recommends tucking little notes into his or her underwear. To spice up a sexual relationship, he suggests reading Cosmopolitan magazine and using a video camera, a blindfold and Bailey's Irish Creme as props during love-making. Copyright 2003 Reed Business Information, Inc. Product Description: Confessions of a True Romantic includes the wildly popular Romance Report Card, which couples can use to assess their relationship. And, if the relationship doesn't make the grade, here's everything lovers can do about it, from heart-to-heart communication to bringing light, fun and ease into an otherwise boring love life.
