Wartime letters of a New Englander s journey from innocence to elite fighter squadron pilot A must-read for young Navy and Marine Corps officers as they enter aviation training. Lt. Gen. Robert F. Milligan, U.S. Marine Corps (retired) An intriguing look at Marine aviation in World War II by a sensitive and intelligent pilot; few narratives provide as much insight into the intensely personal feelings of a pilot in combat. Walter Boyne, author of The Influence of Air Power upon History Offers a compelling look into the world of a young man who left the comfort of civilian life to become a pilot in one of the best known combat fighter squadrons of the Pacific War. Lt. Carl O. Dunbar Jr. s letters home remind us of the personal side of the Second World War. Michael H. Creswell, author of A Question of Balance Before the MarineFighting Squadron VMF-214 became known as the Black Sheep squadron led by Pappy Boyington, this air group was already flying missions from Guadalcanal. Commissioned in 1942, the squadron was originally known as The...
