Forgotten Books, 2018. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****. Excerpt from Public School Methods, Vol. 4: Fully Illustrated From Photographs, Paintings and Original Drawings Beginning with Volume Four Of public school methods, we are entering those studies which mark a new stage Of child life. The work Of the three primary grades is left behind; a new group Of important studies comes into view, and a new attitude toward studies is seen in the children. They have learned how to read, but now they are to read in such a way as to learn how to study. They have reached the point where they require less Of fairy story and early myth and more Of the real and practical - at least less of the purely fanciful and more that corresponds to life out Of school. The intermediate grades - fourth, fifth and sixth - have not yet received the attention from thinkers and educators that they deserve. The primary grades and the grammar school have thus far monopolized too much attention. The fourth, fifth and sixth grades have been allowed to drop into a dry formalism which has had a rather hard and depressing effect upon the children. The introduction Of many new studies and the overloading of the course with too many subjects are partly responsible for this poor result in intermediate grades.
