

Unpacking the Collection

By Byrne, Sarah / Clarke, Anne

Condition: New. Publisher/Verlag: Springer, Berlin | Networks of Material and Social Agency in the Museum | Grounded in case studies from individual objects and collections from North America, Europe, Africa, the Pacific Islands, and Australia, this volume provides a new theoretical framework for examining material culture within museums. | Museum collections are often perceived as static entities hidden away in storerooms or trapped behind glass cases. By focusing on the dynamic histories of museum collections, new research reveals their pivotal role in shaping a wide range of social relations. Over time and across space the interactions between these artefacts and the people and institutions who made, traded, collected, researched and exhibited them have generated complex networks of material and social agency.In this innovative volume, the contributors draw on a broad range of social relations. These case studies contribute significantly to the development of new theoretical frameworks to examine broader questions of materiality, agency, and identity in the past and present.Grounded in case studies from individual objects and museum collections from North America, Europe, Africa, the Pacific Islands, and Australia, this truly international volume juxtaposes historical, geographical, and cross-cultural studies.This work...

Reviews

Just no words to explain. Indeed, it is actually play, nevertheless an amazing and interesting literature. Its been written in an exceptionally simple way and is particularly simply following i finished reading through this ebook by which in fact altered me, alter the way in my opinion. -- Leilani Rippin

Absolutely essential read through book. it was actually writtern quite properly and useful. Its been developed in an remarkably basic way and it is only following i finished reading through this ebook where really changed me, modify the way i believe. -- Torrey Jerde