THE WIDER OUTLOOK: BEYOND THE WORLD WAR (PAPERBACK)

Createspace, 2014. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . During several decades most of the nations of the world, and especially those of the European Continent, have, though at peace, been diligently preparing for war. May not this singular process be now reversed? May not the peoples who are either actors or sorely tried spectators in the present gigantic conflict agree to make, even in the midst of strife, some significant preparation for the future maintenance of international concord? It is possible to regard our brave soldiers as actually engaged in paving a way to true tranquility, through the horrors of the field of battle and of villages and cities laid waste. Should not the thinkers and statesmen of all countries be now planning to establish the world's peace, when it is once more won? There are some patriots who wish to keep passion at white heat, and fear that a reasonable frame of mind and any discussion of peace at so critical a time as the present may interfere with recruiting and military efficiency. My own patriotism is greater than theirs. It extends to regarding my fellow countrymen, from Tommy Atkins to Lord Kitchener and from the humblest civilian to Sir Edward Grey, as essentially reasonable beings, whose sense of duty to the British Empire and her Allies will not be diminished, but stimulated, by the thought that the Allied Nations have now a great opportunity for serving Humanity-for promoting the future peace and progress of the civilized world. The preparation for peace which (at the moment of writing) it is possible to make is not any adjustment of the rival claims of the nations at war. The fighting men must continue to do their part for some considerable period before...
