Hath he stepp d upon the scaffold? Once he stood beside a throne, Where the brightest and the bravest With no truer glory shone. He is old, and he is weary - False his foes, and few his friends; Yet, undaunted in the struggle, His bold spirit never bends. He has battled with the scholars, With a strength as learn d as theirs, And, still patient, true, and loyal, Did he trample down their snares. He has sail d upon the tropics; He has compass d earth and sea With his brave, bold, master-spirit, Still so loyal and so free!
