

Brahmadasanam

By Sri Ananda Acharya

Sundeep Prakashan, New Delhi, India, 1988. Hardcover. Condition: New. Dust Jacket Condition: New. The Indian philosophy whether natural or spiritual held in high esteem. It emerged as acceptable, balanced and basic tenets. Unlike the philosophies of other countries based on origin or traditional Indian philosophies reflect infinite depth and true nature of human aspirations. This is one of the reasons why the West and East alike inevitably practised it in diverse spheres as refined wisdom and knowledge and applicable in the development of creative humanity, as it tends, reflective of the original scriptures. The development of it become an inevitable factor and not contrary to the development of human knowledge at any period that may come and has one. In the present nuclear age the science of philosophy retains its true nature and emerged logical to save mankind and do not preach hatred and destruction of man and nature. The Indian philosophy reflects another aspect of the problem being debated in the world relating to existence of soul after death in another human. It may be a logical conclusion. An experiment being performed throughout the world. "Kapila recognizes three modes of knowledge: Perception inference and revelation. The perceptions of..."
