The bactericidal properties of ozone since having been studied and proven by Froehlich and Ohlmueller, have perhaps been more frequently investigated than any other of its properties, and the fact that bacteriologists like Pasteur, Roux and Koch have indorsed them, has left no further doubt in the minds of the most skeptical persons. Ozone oxidizes the impurities in water and renders them harmless; it discolors dirty water and still leaves no compounds harmful to the health or disagreeable to the taste. This purification is accompanied by a distinct phosphorescence of the water. In cases where muddy appearance is largely due to substances of mineral origin it is customary to partially clear the water by means of a pressure filter before ozonization. Owing to the great variation in the composition and appearance of a water at different times it is customary to use about twice as much ozone as is found necessary to thoroughly purify an average sample of the water in the laboratory. The concentrations used for water purification are high and range from 5 to 12 grams of ozone per cubic meter of air, according to the quality of water. The amount of ozone required for purifying 1 cubic meter of water also varies greatly according to the quality of the water, but may be given as from.5 gram to 10 grams ozone per cubic meter of water. The above...
