Time Travel with Computers: Time Travel with Information (Paperback)

By Lloyd Dudley Burris

Createspace Independent Publishing Platform, United States, 2016. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Time Travel with Computers is about mathematically calculating check-sums of computer files that may be from the past, present, future, and alternate time-lines. Then using binary counters in a process known as check-sum hacking to construct those check-sums. After the files are re-constructed software bots look at the files and output the good files to the user to look at. The process is repeated as an assembly line process. The very end process is known as Time-Hacking.
