Republic of Letters, 2011. Hardback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****. Institute for Historical Justice and Reconciliation Series, 4 History of International Relations Library, 22 Two sides of the coin: Independence and Nakba 1948, written by two eminent historians, Adel Manna and Motti Golani, takes the reader on a journey to the War of 1948, by offering contemporary multi-perspective narratives on the war, accompanied by maps that highlight historical events during that time. The Palestinian- Israeli conflict is understood as a conflict over territory, while simultaneously it is a conflict over historical narratives. One of the most important questions asked in this conflict over narrative is: what happened in 1948? Golani and Manna have treated with delicacy and depth this highly complex and divisive question, their approach contributes significantly to a mutual understanding between Israelis and Palestinians on their common history. Professor Motti Golani and Dr. Adel Manna have made a courageous attempt to present the history of the Arab-Israeli conflict in one common narrative. The result is a compelling book which testifies well to a honest, brave and partially successful endeavor to present a story free of any political and ideological inclination. One may assume that diehards on both sides will find it difficult to accept the new formulations. Moreover, only time will tell us how far this attempt will have an impact on the current narratives of the opposing sides. Dr. Mordechai Bar-On, Israeli historian and former General and member of the Knesset. An Israeli and a Palestinian historian attempt to present simultaneous narratives of the Arab Israeli conflict in order to, in their words, facilitate recognition (though not necessarily acceptance) of the narrative of the other. This is done as a means of intellectually altering relations between the two sides,...
