Excerpt from The Jacobitism, Perjury and Popery of High-Church Priests Many admir d the Impudence of the Pretender in attempting with fo very few Forces fuch a powerful Go vernment; but then they did not confider how many years the high-church Drummers had been beating up for Volunteers on his account. But tho that Attempt has happily mifcarry d, yet tis very melancholy to confider, how fince that time the high-church Pulpits have doubled their Efforts to make way for another D (cent. Nay, tho one of the Trumpeters of Sedition is profecuted in a Parliamentary way, yet that has had no other effei on his True Brethren, than to caufe em to preach up with more fury than ever thefe Hellifh Doc trines; as if they hop d with their Numbers and daring Infolence to intimidate the Parliament. So that now after the fpending of fo much Blood and Treaifiire in defence of the Revolution, things feem to be brought to this pafs, that the Representatives of the Nation mull be under a fnecefity of difputing the Lawfulnefs of it with High...
