Not illustrated. 1910 Excerpt: .named Louis Bonard, died and bequeathed his property to the Society. Mr. Bergh did not meet Mr. Bonard until just before his death, when he sent for Mr. Bergh to visit him at St. Vincent s hospital. I have, said the sick man, long entertained a deep regard for the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, and I have bequeathed to it all my property, as there is no cause which so entirely possesses my sympathies as the one it represents. His will left property amounting to more than $100,000 to Mr. Bergh s society. The will was contested on the ground that Mr, Bonard was not mentally sound; that he believed in the transmigration of human souls, and that his motive in making the legacy was for his self-protection in the future stage of what he supposed his existence might be, should his soul become absorbed in the body of an animal. Prior to 1869, horses that had fallen sick, or had been injured in the streets, suffered much, and many were left to die in their tracks, owing to the lack of a proper vehicle to transport them to hospitals for treatment. This difficulty was remedied by Mr. Bergh, who designed and had constructed an ambulance for the removal of disabled animals. This was of the type now very familiar in all large cities where animal protection is made a subject of specific provision. In 1871 the crusade of the Society against...
