Manchester University Press, UK, 2004. Hardcover. Condition: New. Dust Jacket Condition: New. First Edition. 288 pages. Available Now. Book Description: "Men in Political Theory" builds on feminist re-readings of the traditional canon of male writers in political philosophy by turning the "gender lens" on to the representation of men in widely studied texts. It explains the distinction between "man" as an apparently de-gendered "individual" or "citizen" and "man" as an overtly gendered being in human society. The ten chapters on Plato, Aristotle, Jesus, Augustine, Machiavelli, Hobbes, Locke, Rousseau, Marx and Engels show the operation of the "gender lens" in different ways, depending on how each philosopher deploys concepts of men and masculinity to pose and solve classic problems. : Review: The precise importance of Carver's new book therefore is that it transgresses this taken-for-granted view of men (as) in political theory. Reading through this book was both interesting and a pleasure. Men in Political Theory represents a good balance between innovative and expected inclusions. Richard Howson, University of Wollongong, Australia --Richard Howson, University of Wollongong, Australia: He succeeds to extend and enrich our perspectives on men and masculinities.his insights into the place and function of manhood in the work of several political theorists are superb. For example, his chapter on John Locke is marvelous. Carver displays a keen sensitivity to the multiple masculinities embedded in the history of Western political thought. --Mark E. Kann, University of Southern California : About the Author: Terrell Carver is Professor of Political Theory at the University of Bristol. Size: 16.3 x 2.7 x 23.9 cm. 288 pages.
